

EUROPEAN TRAVEL COMMISSION (ETC) AND WORLD TOURISM ORGANISATION (UNWTO) JOINT INTERNATIONAL SEMINAR ON TRANSNATIONAL TOURISM THEMES AND ROUTES

In recent years, the development of tourism themes and routes has gained prominence with the key aim of bundling services and attractions under a unifying subject and for promotion purposes. These themes bridge the gap between a destination's tangible and intangible features and are designed to appeal to specific visitor segments interested in gathering unique experiences on topics such as culture, history, heritage, nature, sports, gastronomy, religion or health.

The joint international seminar is the exceptional occasion to officially launch the brand new ETC-UNWTO Handbook on Marketing Transnational Tourism Themes & Routes, which seeks to encourage collaborative marketing by the world's tourism authorities, by highlighting examples, demonstrating best practice, identifying opportunities, mapping out strategies and providing practical guidance. It is intended as a resource for tourism managers and destination organisations interested in developing transnational tourism partnerships, frameworks and products.
