

European Travel Commission (ETC) and World Tourism Organization (UNWTO)

Handbook on Key Performance Indicators for Tourism Marketing Evaluation

Table of contents

Acknowledgments.....	7
Foreword	9
Comments and definitions.....	11
Executive summary.....	13
Chapter 1 Introduction	19
1.1 About this handbook	19
1.2 Handbook overview.....	20
1.3 Putting current practice in the context of this handbook.....	21
1.3.1 There is a wide variation in performance indicators used.....	21
1.3.2 Online marketing evaluation is still in its early stage.....	22
1.3.3 Towards fit for use measurement of return on investment	23
1.4 The performance indicator practical guides	23
1.5 Using this handbook	23
Chapter 2 Key insights from members' survey	25
2.1 The survey.....	25
2.2 Inventory of NTO marketing activities.....	26
2.3 Marketing spend across NTO activities.....	28
2.4 The importance of marketing evaluation.....	28
2.5 How marketing evaluation is used.....	29
2.6 Key audiences for marketing evaluation	30
2.7 Managing and delivering marketing evaluation.....	30
2.8 Key challenges for marketing evaluation	31
Chapter 3 Contemporary marketing evaluation	33
3.1 The case for marketing evaluation and measurement.....	33
3.2 How destination marketing supports destination competitiveness.....	34

3.3 The evaluation and measurement process	35
3.4 Key challenges for contemporary marketing evaluation.....	26
3.5 Digital channels put increasing demands on marketing evaluation.....	36
3.6 Understanding the customer journey.....	40
3.7 Applying the customer journey to travel and destination choice	42
3.8 Strategic context is important.....	44
3.9 The role of different channels	45
3.10 Understanding digital media: owned, paid and earned media	46
3.11 Developing a measurement model.....	49
3.12 Different types of performance indicators.....	51
3.13 Qualitative evaluation and quantitative measurement	53
3.14 Practical considerations for selecting performance indicators.....	55
3.15 The influence of market factors.....	57
Chapter 4 Offline consumer marketing activities	63
4.1 Advertising.....	64
4.1.1 What is it?	65
4.1.2 What do you measure?.....	65
4.1.3 How do you measure it?.....	67
4.2 Sponsorship.....	68
4.2.1 What is it?	68
4.2.2 What do you measure?.....	68
4.2.3 How do you measure it?.....	68
4.3 Film.....	70
4.3.1 What is it?	71
4.3.2 What do you measure?.....	71
4.4 Public, media relations and promotions.....	74
4.4.1 What is it?	74
4.4.2 What do you measure?.....	74
4.4.3 How do you measure it?.....	75
4.5 Direct marketing	76
4.5.1 What is it?	76
4.5.2 What do you measure?.....	76
4.5.3 How do you measure it?.....	76
4.6 Consumer exhibitions.....	77
4.6.1 What is it?	77

4.6.2 What do you measure?.....	77
4.6.3 How do you measure it?.....	78
4.7 Reference table of key performance indicators for discrete offline consumer activities.....	79
Chapter 5 Online consumer-marketing activities.....	85
5.1 The different types of measurement.....	86
5.2 Using periodic research to inform future marketing activity.....	87
5.2.1 Keyword research.....	87
5.2.2 Network analysis.....	88
5.2.3 Competitor intelligence.....	88
5.2.4 Brand monitoring.....	88
5.2.5 Site audit and evaluation.....	89
5.2.6 Online experiments.....	89
5.2.7 User experience and site testing.....	90
5.2.8 Consider the voice of the customer.....	90
5.3 Web analytics.....	90
5.3.1 The definition of basic reporting elements.....	91
5.3.2 Think beyond web traffic or clickstream data.....	92
5.3.3 Understand your objectives and develop key performance indicators.....	93
5.3.4 Define specific conversion events for your site.....	94
5.3.5 Ten great web metrics.....	95
5.4 Social media analytics.....	97
5.4.1 Understand how social media delivers business objectives.....	97
5.4.2 What is social media measurement?.....	98
5.4.3 What is social media monitoring?.....	100
5.4.4 Apply an appropriate framework to your social analytics.....	100
5.5 Channel-focussed measurement.....	101
5.5.1 Organic search.....	101
5.5.2 Paid search.....	103
5.5.3 Display and video advertising.....	105
5.5.4 Social media advertising.....	107
5.5.5 E-mail marketing.....	108
5.6 Tracking user behaviour and conversion.....	109
5.7 Mobile measurement and evaluation.....	110
5.8 Understanding cause and effect.....	110
5.9 Develop an integrated measurement framework.....	112

5.9.1 Customer engagement is becoming more important.....	112
5.9.2 The move towards off-site engagement	113
5.9.3 Assign metrics to different types of engagement	113
5.10 Reference table of key performance indicators for discrete online consumer activities.....	115
Chapter 6 Trade and B2B marketing activities.....	121
6.1 Supporting and working with the travel trade.....	121
6.2 Meetings, incentives, conference and events	122
6.3 Exhibitions and travel trade events.....	122
6.4 Undertaking sales calls and meetings with potential partners	122
6.5 Familiarisation trips for travel trade partners	123
6.6 Applying consumer and content marketing to trade and B2B marketing activities.....	123
6.7 Reference table of key performance indicators for trade and B2B activities	124
Chapter 7 Overarching marketing evaluation.....	125
7.1 Understanding marketing outcomes and business impact	125
7.2 Communications research	127
7.2.1 Advertising and brand tracking methodologies	127
7.2.2 Taking account of digital channels.....	129
7.2.3 Tracking brand search volume.....	130
7.2.4 Building brand equity and its evaluation.....	133
7.3 Conversion research.....	135
7.3.1 Improving the research methodology.....	135
7.3.2 Calculating additional revenue as a result of marketing activities.....	136
7.4 Delivering an integrated approach.....	138
7.5 Causality models and calculating return on investment.....	141
7.6 Reference table of key performance indicators for overarching marketing evaluation.....	144
Conclusions.....	145
Annexes	147
Annex 1 Specimen formats	147
Annex 2 Member’s survey questionnaire	153
List of acronyms and abbreviation.....	161
List of case studies, figures and tables	163
References and bibliography.....	165